What to be for Halloween: A Punny conversation

"This Halloween you should go as Pavlov, Not everyone will get it, but it should ring a bell."

"I may or may not go as Schrodinger"

"I was thinking about Heisenberg, but I'm still uncertain"

"Actually, I've already selected Darwin, Naturally"

"Einstein would be a relatively good costume."

"I was gonna do Hertz, but I fear I've dont that one too frequently"

"I'll give you a call if I'm going as Bell."

"I might spring the idea of a Hooke costume"

"Currently I'm thinking about Ampere."

"Though I'm being pulled toward Newton"

"I was also thinking of doing Newton, but I fear it might be too derivative of yours."

"I'll go as Leibniz; he's an integral part of any party"

Recap: Ballroom Dancing with HKN

by Yasmin Rubio

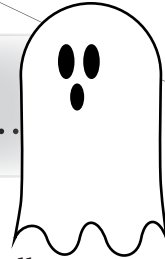

The ballroom dancing social was a success on October 10th, where members of HKN and/or SWE got together to learn a few steps from our amazing instructors. Participants were taught the east coast swing and even though it might not have been made clear by our feet, the smiles made it clear that at the end of the night it didn't matter. Some highlights of the evening include, awesome snacks had to go along with the even more awesome company, a small performance of Gangnam Style by a few members, the times you actually did a step correctly, and lastly the blast you had laughing. If you are green with envy, keep that in mind and join us next time we have a ballroom dancing event, where you can meet a couple dozen people that you are guaranteed to remember forever, or at least your toes will.

Tips: What to Wear to a Professional Event

Career fairs provide a great opportunity to meet representative face-to-face and make a memorable impact. But how exactly do you make a lasting first impression? It goes beyond a polished resume and an impressive list of skills and all starts with what you wear. Generally, stick to more conservative professional clothing and a darker or neutral color palate. You can throw in a splash of color; just keep it tasteful (i.e. No neon green or hot pink). A great pair of slacks, a button down shirt, and a blazer is always a go-to outfit and feel free to switch out a button down shirt for a nice blouse. Skirts are also a great option but be careful about the length. They shouldn't be above the knee or too tight. If there's ever some doubt, just throw on a pair of black tights. Above all else, make sure your clothes are wrinkle free and clean, and your shoes scruff free. With a professional look and confidence, you'll ace your next professional event.

Reminder:

T-Shirt Design Contest Deadline Extended

Are you interested in seeing your artwork on the new SWE T-Shirt? We have extended the deadline for the SWE T-shirt contest. The winning T-shirt will be printed and sold at SWE GMs. The submitter of the winning design will also receive a free shirt and a $50 cash prize!

Please submit your completed design by emailing to swe.berkeley@gmail.com with "T-shirt Design" in the subject of the email. The deadline for this is Wednesday, November 21. Designs will be printed in the GM4 newsletter and the final decision will be put to a vote.

Requirements:

- Must incorporate the SWE logo and the words "Society of Women in Engineering"
- Must be 1 or 2 colors on a solid background

@UCB_SWE

Hi Everyone,

I hope all of you have been having a good semester thus far. It's important that during these stressful midterm months to remember to stay healthy and happy. Take a break from your work every once in awhile and come to a SWE event! I'm really looking forward to the Halloween social, EWI and SWE National conference.

If you are looking to get involved in SWE, its not too late! Whether you want to join the social, outreach or PR committee, we are always happy to take more people.

Best,
Amy T.
